

After Fridays silly Brunch Burger experiment we were snacking on left over burger for most of the morning yesterday and to be honest we could easily have skipped dinner. But we had home made Coleslaw, some Salad and some leftover Polish Ham in the fridge. So I cobbled this together. I sliced the Ham and mixed it into the Salad with a but of Mayonnaise, popped the Coleslaw over the top, melted a bit of Cheese over a Waffle each and plonked half a boiled Egg on top.

Sorted and all the leftovers have been used up?..