

Excessive? Perhaps, but it fed us for two days!

No recipe required here. The Sour Dough loaves were loitering in the Yellow Sticker fridge in the local supermarket. We love their Gluten free Sour Dough loaves but we don't generally love the price. But at 25p I grabbed two? The Mince for the hand pressed burger was originally from Waitrose, which is forbidden territory. But it had done the rounds through the local food banks, had been frozen and was thawing out. It was free and heading to be composted. Much better eaten than composted!
